We're the Electrical Alliance. Join us and you'll be part of a powerful organization of union contractors and electricians. It means steady work, better pay and benefits for you and your family.

The Electrical Alliance is known for expertise and extensive training programs for electricians at every level. From on-the-job training to classroom learning, you can upgrade your skills in the national electrical code, fiber optics, programmable and motor controls and fire alarms. We'll help you keep up with technology's fast pace so you can qualify for today's top jobs.

And speaking of top jobs, The Electrical Alliance represents the largest union electrical contracting companies in the region. That means we can send you to bigger, more exciting projects. You'll work for employers who are experienced in running projects smoothly and safely.

You'll also get a broad family health plan paid for by your employer, with no charge for dependants, plus free disability benefits and life insurance. And, thanks to the Alliance's own benefit and pension fund, you can retire after 30 years at the young age of 55!

As a union electrician you can start building a more successful career, earn higher wages and have better health care benefits for a more comfortable life. What's more, you'll have a solid retirement plan, so you can look forward to a brighter future.
